When pupils arrived at the schoolhouse in South Wheelock one morning last which are as follows, all meetings to week, they found a horse in the hollow in the rear of the building, standing on the ice in the brook. The animal was found to belong to Mr. Mooney of St. Johnsbury Center and as it was seen running away the night before, it is supposed to have stood on the ice where it was found from 10 o'clock that night until morning. The snow was very deep on the ice and the animal apparently made no attempt to get away.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

E. F. Healey, Brother of James M. Healey of Montpelier, the Victim.

The following article from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican of March 8 gives an account of the tragic death at Springfield of E. F. Healey, a brother of James M. Healey of Montpelier and a member of the staff of the Montpelier Argus:

ing contractor of 928 Liberty street, was Worms — A Danger to Children struck and almost instantly killed by express train No. 60 in the New Haven railroad yards at the foot of Elm street about 7:30 o'clock last evening. The accident marked the tragic ending of an unusual runaway of two large black horses hitched to a sled. Mr. Healey apparently lost control of the horses near the corner of Water and State streets. They ran down State street to the New Haven railroad tracks and then turned itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grindand ran north on the tracks. Unchecked, ing of the teeth, little red points sticking out they raced wildly across the tracks, on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever, buy one pound we are sure you'll crossing the dry bridge at the foot of it you see any of these symptoms in your Elm street and continuing until they child, don't lose another minute, but get a come back for more. The qualreached a point opposite the Springfield bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxa- ity is guaranteed. Boat club house.

The express train was directly behind The express train was directly behind the team and struck it with terrific force almost opposite the boat club house. The force of the impact broke the tongue or old. At all dealers', 85c, 50c and $1.00 Write Campbell's Soups, all varie-sled and Mr. Healey were carried along the track fully 300 feet before the wreckage was thrown aside. When the sled was struck by the pilot of the heavy engine it piled up on the buffer beam, where he apparently held on until he was swept off by the falling wreckage. His horribly mangled body was found lying on the track almost opposite the wrecked sled.

The express train was in charge of Engineer F. L. Slocum, Conductor E. T. Bray and Assistant Conductor C. F. Osgood. It was stopped several hundred feet beyond where the body was found. The members of the crew stated last Prunes, fb 10c, 3 lbs. for 25c evening that the engineer did not see the team until he had crossed the Elm street Japan Tea, pkg......20c dry bridge. It was then too late to stop. Potatoes, peck 58c 59 Prospect St. The marks on the ties of the dry bridge showed that the team had crossed the bridge on the most westerly track. The horses obviously started to run toward the Elm street playgrounds, diagonally across the tracks and were caught before they had a chance to clear the main

The engineer was almost stunned with 50 Brook St. surprise when he saw the team at such an unexpected place and realized that an accident was inevitable. The crash attracted the attention of members of one of the yard crews, which was near the scene at the time, and they notified the yard officers. The officers in turn notified the police. Associate Medical Ex-aminer S. E. Ryan viewed the body and had it removed to Broughall's undertaking establishment. The body was unidentified when it was found, but employes at Lee & Guertin's stables on Water street, where the horses had been taken, recognized them as be longing to Mr. Healey. At the undertaking establishment papers were found on Mr. Healey's person which completed the identification. So far as the police know, only one person saw the team run
